SPIRIT OF THE MORNING PRESS.
The Intelligence is highly gratified indeed with the re-election of Senator Butler, of South Carolina, saying,

"There is no member of the Senate whose reappointment to it we feel free to say, would afford us more sincere or universal satisfaction than this member of the South Carolina delegation; nor indeed more satisfaction to all the true friends of the dignity, respectability, and usefulness of the Senate. It is the more gratifying just now as making some amends for the loss which the body will sustain at the close of the present session in the retirement of some of its most able and esteemed members, under the operation of that most mischievous of Democratic principles, the principle of 'rotation in office.'"

The Union grows eloquent over the enactment of the bill for the relief of the heirs of Baron de Kalb, of revolutionary war memory, saying:

"There is something peculiarly interesting in the history of Baron de Kalb. Let us recall some of the incidents of his career, now when we are demanded by an arrogant party to annihilate the recollection of the brave and generous men who came from other lands to suffer and to die for the cause of American independence, twice assailed by the strongest Power of the Old World. He was a German by birth. He was in France a knight of the order of military merit, and a brigadier general in the French army. He came to this country with La Fayette; he was appointed a major general by Congress, and served at the head of the Maryland division. He commanded the right wing of the Americans at Camden, S. C., and in that fearful conflict he fell, in his last attempt to achieve a victory, pierced with nine wounds. He was rescued from immediate death by the Chevalier du Rysson, his aid, (and also a foreigner) who embraced the prostrate general, and received into his own body the bayonets intended for his friend, exclaiming, 'save the Baron de Kalb; oh, save the Baron de Kalb.' The brave veteran survived the bloody battle but a few days. Before his death he spoke these noble words: 'I die the death I always prayed for—this death of a soldier fighting for the rights of his country. What a commentary upon this language are the doctrines of the graveyard order.' It is a voice from the grave of a great soldier, pleading against the passions and prejudices, and to the justice and the gratitude of the present generation. When Gen. Washington visited Camden, many years after, he went to the grave of the German patriot. After gazing upon it, with a countenance marked with deep thought, he exclaimed, 'de Kalb! the general who, after a war upon a distant land to fight our battles, and to water with his blood the tree of our liberty. Would to God he had lived to share its fruits!'"

"Little did the immortal hero and sage suppose that a day would arrive in American history when such a man as De Kalb would become a mark of proscription; when his children would have been disfranchised by a fanatical party; and when his services would be denied by a set of modern reformers, whose ambition can only be satisfied by a war upon all men born abroad, whether naturalized or not; and by a crusade upon the religious belief of a large portion of the American people!"

NEW PUBLICATIONS.—Taylor & Maury have sent us the "Life of Barnum," the great showman, which we shall notice at length in a future number of the Star.

Joe Shillingham has sent us Godey's Lady's Book for January. The new title page is superb.

WHIG CONVENTION IN VIRGINIA.—Some of the Whig papers are suggesting preparations for holding a Whig State Convention to nominate candidates for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Attorney General. The election will be held on the fourth Thursday of May, and it is thought that the 22d of February will be a suitable period for the Convention. A Union Convention has been suggested, composed of all the opponents of the Democratic ticket, (who were themselves Whigs in 1846) but the "Old Line Whigs" are in favor of raising their own banner, which they say is good enough and broad enough for all patriotic voters.

The editor of the Courier and Enquirer, who has recently returned from Europe, says that the 93d Highlanders, the regiment which received and repulsed the charge of Russian cavalry with such admirable coolness on the 25th of October, has volunteered to lead the storming party when the breaches are opened at Sevastopol. Probably not one of the gallant fellows will live to know whether the attack is successful or not.

INVALUABLE REMEDIES.—Here are a few simple remedies for very prevalent disorders, which we have no hesitation in recommending as infallible:

For sea sickness—stay at home.
 For drunkenness—drink cold water.
 For headache—take "Ayer's Pills."
 For accidents—keep out of danger.
 To make money—advertise in the Evening Star.
 For Coughs and Colds—take Cherry Pectoral.
 To keep out of jail—pay your debts.
 To be happy—subscribe for a newspaper.
 To please all—mind your own business.
 To have a good conscience—"pay the printer."

Champagne and oysters are the inducements offered at public sales in New York, according to the Evening Post—Sumptuous lunches procure good attendances.

The guano at Bird Island, near St. Thomas, is said to be equal to the Peruvian deposit.

WASHINGTON NEWS AND GOSSIP.
Cool.—The indignant comments of the Paris Constitutionnel against the Government of the United States, because a squad of French refugees and vagabonds insulted the French Emperor in the harbor of New York not long since, in singing the Marseilles and hooting and blackguarding around a French ship-of-war, is a note worthy event, in view of the fact that the Courrier des Etats Unis, the organ in our country of the Minister of the French Government, which at home muzzles the press completely, not permitting a single journal to express a thought on public affairs not agreeable to itself, (the Government,) is actually the only newspaper in our country which is always openly insulting the President. The Tribune, Herald, et al. do that dirty trick openly, and without attempt at disguise. The Courrier, on the other hand, when doing such work, does it so as to convey the impression that it knows well that it is so engaged, and is anxious to hide the true character of its employment from scrutiny.

What a comment upon the hollowness of the complaint of the semi-official organ in Paris, of the labor of the French official in this country!

By the by, the Courrier is the only paper which has condemned the message in toto.

Iron, Coarse Wool, Dye-stuffs, &c.—The New York Mirror calls on Congress to remove the present pressure on the business men of the country by passing the French pollution bill, redeeming the Texas bonds, and abolishing the duties on dyestuffs and dyes. Now, there are two sides to all such questions. A large wing of the House, doubtless a majority, at this time are opposed to any such legislation. As for the spoiliations and Texas bonds questions, at present matters look as though there are no hopes. That is, that those interested in the proposed legislation with reference to them are to be disappointed. We shall see.

The friends of duty-free dyestuffs and coarse wools, however, are in a better position at the present writing, owing to the pressure for the removal of the duty on railroad iron. It seems as though these three propositions hang together, there being many pro-railroaders (free-duty-on-railroad-iron-men) disposed to let in dyestuffs and coarse wools free, by way of carrying their own scheme. The success of any such proposition, however, will depend upon the judgment with which their friends manage its cause here this winter. Their cause is not hopeless. But to succeed, it must be earnestly pressed, and with great skill. So matters go in Washington at this time.

An Important Decision.—The decision of the Supreme Court, on Wednesday last, in the case of Ring vs. Maxwell, involves a reading of the law which is of great public importance. Ring, it will be recollected was naval officer of the port of New York under the last Administration. He, the collector and the surveyor of the port claimed that all additional duties there were in the nature of "penalties," and that, as such, the naval officer, surveyor, and collector, (the latter being Maxwell himself,) were legally each entitled to a distributive share of them.

The Secretary of the Treasury, not admitting the validity of their claim, ordered all the moneys collected there on account of "additional duties" assessed, to be paid into the Treasury; and Ring, on behalf of himself and his colleagues, brought this suit, to enjoin the collector from paying it in as ordered by the Secretary.

The decision of the Supreme Court is that their claim is not valid, the additional duties being duties—the property of the United States—and not "penalties," under the law of 1846. This decision saves to the Treasury, in this and other cases, some two or three millions of dollars, if not more; the revenue officers who receive the highest pay being those who present the highest claims of this character.

If we are not greatly mistaken, this decision covers, also, the chief point in the case of the United States vs. Beverly Saunders, late collector at San Francisco, soon to be tried in Baltimore.

Gov. Seward.—We have to say that as far as we can judge from the conversation of the friends of Mr. Seward in this city they are perfectly at ease with reference to that gentleman's re-election to the Senate, feeling pretty certain of that event. The country might as well know that fact in view of current publications of prognostications the other way.

Hot Co.—The Philadelphia Mint is now, it is stated in New York papers, unable to supply the demand for coin which is wanted—not bars now as the foreign demand for export has ceased—but it does its best in sending out $20 pieces, which but very feebly supply calls for circulation. Eagles and half-eagles are wanted, not $20 (bullion) pieces. These facts account for the hitherto unexplained incongruity—that while New York was receiving gold by the million from California, she was not increasing in gold in bank. The Express says:

"The bullion sent from this city to Philadelphia for refining and coining, since the new construction put upon the assay office here, amounts to the large sum of $2,250,000 of which only $500,000 have come back, so that the Philadelphia Mint has of New York held bullion $1,750,000 of no more present use than if it was in the Dead Sea."—Baltimore Sun.

On inquiry, we learn that there are material errors in the above statement. The Philadelphia Mint is not "unable to supply the demand for coin," as alleged. For a week or so its coining operations were, for the most part, discontinued, simply to afford the proper opportunity for the settlement of accounts on a change of coiners.

In the mean time, all New York orders of bullion to be coined in the Mint, were and are free to obtain coin for it at the New York assay office, so soon as the value of their bullion is ascertained. We learn further, that the Secretary of the Treasury has placed $2,500,000 in the assay office, which, with the balance on hand there, will be amply sufficient to meet the demand for coin for every dollar of bullion deposited in the assay office as stated in the article on which we are commenting.

A Light-house Keeper Appointed.—John B. Smith has been appointed keeper of the light boat at Vineyard Sound, (Sow and Pigs,) Mass., at $550 per annum, vice Alfred M. Gifford, resigned.

the interests of the tribe and the particulars of present importance in their relations with the General Government.

The Current Operations of the Treasury Department.—On Saturday, the 16th of Dec, there were of Treasury Warrants entered on the books of the Department:—
 For the redemption of stock.....$269,611 83
 For paying Treasury debts..... 93,375 01
 For the Customs..... 20,011 47
 For covering into the Treasury from miscellaneous sources..... 69 57
 Covered into the Treasury from Lands..... 2,707 00
 Covered into the Treasury from Customs..... 7,491 03
 For the War Department..... 62,207 05
 For the Navy Department..... 175,561 15
 For the Interior Department..... 22,872 50

CONGRESSIONAL.
 In the Senate, to-day, a few bills from the House were taken up and referred. After which, the bill for the relief of the heirs of Major General the Baron de Kalb, from the House, was taken up, and advocated by Messrs. Badger and Clayton, who urged immediate action upon it.

Messrs. Brodhead and Hunter advocated its reference to the Committee on Revolutionary Affairs.

In the House, Mr. Robbins moved a resolution, which was adopted, to instruct the committee on naval affairs to enquire into the expediency of allowing all officers, seamen and marines of the navy, serving during the Mexican war, as to bony land, extra pay, &c., as those who served at the same time on the Pacific side.

Mr. Phillips introduced a bill to provide for the construction of six sloops of war; referred to the Naval Affairs Committee.
 Mr. Clingman made an ineffectual effort to introduce a joint resolution authorizing and requesting the President to tender the mediation of the United States in the Eastern war, (to have been referred to the Foreign Affairs Committee.)

Several resolutions of inquiry were then adopted.

Mr. Faulkner then moved to reconsider the vote by which the House had referred the bill for the relief of Betsy Nash, to which the Senate had appended an appropriation for the relief of the widow of Bechelder, the United States deputy marshal who was killed in the Burns riot at Boston, Mass.

This motion was being discussed as we went to press—Messrs. Faulkner, Bennett, Hendricks, Smith of Virginia, and Haven, having spoken upon it up to that time.

PERSONAL.
 Ex President Martin Van Buren, and a large number of Americans, were at Nice, Italy, November 20th.

"The efforts of fanatics to entice Gavazzi back to this country that we may have more of riots and violence, is very properly rebuked by a sensible editorial in the New York Commercial Advertiser."

Mr. Fletcher Webster is busily engaged in editing two or three volumes of his father's correspondence, that will be published some time next season, uniform in size with the works of Webster that have been issued. A whole year and a half has been devoted by a competent person merely to arrange these letters chronologically for the editor's hands. A rich addition to our literature may be expected. The work of the editor will consist mainly of such historical introductions as will explain the origin of the letters of his father and their answers. Any one would be astonished to see the vast piles of materials that have been collected from all portions of the country, the cream of which is to be given to the public through these volumes.

The Chicago Democrat says that Richardson M. C. from Illinois, has published a card in which he thanks his constituents for re-electing him, and announces his intention to retire from public life at the close of his term.

The Hon. H. L. Wright, of Pennsylvania, we regret to learn, has been confined to his lodgings, in this city, for the past week by sickness.

A man named John W. Shrock, Treasurer of Holmes county, Ohio, has run off, with a young lawyer named T. S. Gillert, with $30,000 belonging to the State. Shrock left his wife and family in destitute circumstance. The county is amply secured against ultimate loss, as his bond is signed by eleven responsible farmers.

In personal appearance Shrock is about sixty years old, has one short leg, carries a cane, is black set, and about five feet eight inches high. He is a jeweler by trade.

Father Gavazzi has fixed upon the day when he will sail from Liverpool for New York. He will arrive in New York the last of February or the first of March.

A large meeting of citizens was held in New York on Friday evening to adopt an address to Win. Smith O'Brien. Speeches were delivered by Charles O'Connor, John Mitchell, Thos. F. Meagher, and others, and the address adopted amid much enthusiasm.

Dr. William A. Fahnestock, of Bordentown, N. J., died on Saturday morning, from injuries received by falling down a flight of stairs, in Second street, on Monday last. The deceased held a high rank in his profession, and was generally esteemed.

Miss Josephine Bunkley appears determined to keep before the public. In alluding to the late letter of the lady superior at Emmetsburg she says:

"This letter is couched in such terms and has so apparent an air of charity and truthfulness, that it would not be wonderful if it were generally credited. Let it be so for the present; but the American public will shortly have an opportunity of judging between us, and I do not fear the result of their verdict, when the whole truth is made known, notwithstanding the unfair means by which it has been attempted to be forestalled."

When Miss Josephine writes her reply we shall give our readers both letters.

GEORGETOWN CORRESPONDENCE.
 GEORGETOWN, Dec 18, 1854.

The weather with us, this morning, is rather gloomy—inclined to snow—unfavorable to our business operations—consequently our business prospects and wharves looks rather dull.

Our river and harbor is again open, and we have had several arrivals and departures of vessels; among them the bark Wm. Chase, Dorry, has arrived from New Orleans with a cargo of sugar and molasses to Messrs. F. & A. H. Dodge. The cargo will be sold on Wednesday, at 12 o'clock, by E. S. Wright. For particulars see advertisement.

The brick work upon the new Mission Methodist church has been completed, and the roof put on. A portion of the church will, in a short time, if the weather continues open, be so far completed as to furnish a place for worship to those persons who reside in the section of our city where it is located, and accommodations for the flourishing Sabbath School now in operation. The Presbyterian Mission Church and school-room, near the same place, is also rapidly approaching completion.

Distress among the Working Classes of New York.

The Herald of yesterday says:—
 "We announced some weeks ago that the owners of the large foundries and shipyards in the upper part of the city had discharged great numbers of their workmen, in consequence of the hard times they are now experiencing. We have since learned that their example has been followed by nearly all the large establishments in the city. The Novelty Works, the Morgan Iron Works, the Bible and Tract House, the Mother's Book Concern, besides a great number of shops and smaller establishments, have dispensed with, on an average, over half their workmen.

"It has been estimated that in the Eleventh Ward alone there are over three thousand mechanics out of employment, and that in the whole city there cannot be less than seventeen thousand laboring men who have no work, nor any prospect of work.

"To aggravate the distress, employers have come to a very general determination to reduce the compensation for labor, and thereby render it still more difficult for those who have work to help those who have not. In the meanwhile rents have not diminished, though the capacity to pay them has. Provisions are still high, as our last week's market report will show, nor is there any reasonable prospect of their becoming much cheaper.

"In these facts, and unless something is done, there is every probability that before the winter is over, the most intense suffering will prevail among the poor.

In addition to what we have already noticed, we understand that the India rubber works in Brooklyn have discharged over thirteen hundred men, and that the dock yards of Brooklyn, Williamsburg and Greenpoint present a very different appearance from what they did last summer, as over two-thirds of the men have been discharged.

The Board of Directors of the New York and Erie Railroad have decided to reduce the pay of most of their employees. An order to this effect was sent up the road, and last night the laborers at Piermont refused to work at the reduced price—80 cents per day.

THE LOSS BY THE LATE FIRE AT PHILADELPHIA.—The loss by the late fire at Philadelphia is summed up as follows:

George W. Edwards, $50,000; George J. Hunkler, $70,000; Wm. F. Fottrell, $60,000; Wm. H. Carry, $35,000; Lacey & Phillips, $60,000; M. C. Weiss, $8,000; Wm. H. Safford, $55,000; the Ridgway Estate, $30,000; at Guards, $3,000; Edward L. Walzer, $10,000; Thomas Price, $10,000; George Bassford, $8,000; Galusha & Co., $10,000; Stayman & Bro., $5,000; Independence Hall, $3,000; J. G. Meggs, $2,000; C. E. Kensell, $10,000; J. Stapleton, $1,000; all others, $5,000; total loss, $458,000. About three-fifths of this amount is estimated to be covered by insurance.

Several persons were badly injured during the fire, the most serious a member of the Friendship League, so much so that it is thought he will not recover.

NAVAL.—The U. S. steam frigate Cumberland, Capt. Harwood, bearing the broad pennant of Com. Stringham, and the U. S. steam frigate Saratoga, Capt. Long, arrived at Villafraanca on the 18th of November, from Toulon. This is the first time an American man-of-war has touched at that port, and nearly three thousand persons visited the ships on Sunday. The officers and crews are all well, but anxious to return to the United States, having been absent nearly three years.

The St. Louis and Levant had gone on a cruise up the Mediterranean.
